MILEY'S RED-HOT ROMANCE COOLS DOWN!

Kennedy clan beau 'having second thoughts'

THE party may be over for Patrick Schwarzenegger and Miley Cyrus, insiders dished to The National ENQUIRER.

"Miley expected a proposal on Valentine's Day," said a source. "Now she's extremely disappointed."

The 21-year-old son of former "Governator" Arnold and Kennedy clan member Maria Shriver had second thoughts after getting an earful from Miley's ex-fiancé, Liam Hemsworth, sources said.

"Patrick got scared off after Liam told him to have fun with Miley, but definitely avoid a commitment," one insider said.

"Hunger Games" hunk Liam was often at Miley's side at clubs when she was caught on camera seemingly smoking illegal substances while partying in revealing outfits.

"Liam experienced Miley's dark side firsthand," explained the source. "Since he and Patrick are casual friends, Liam thought he owed it to Patrick to give him a heads-up."

Afterward, "Patrick realized that Miley's a blast to be around, but she's not long-term girlfriend material," a pal said.

'HE'S PULLING BACK – MUCH TO MARIA'S DELIGHT'

Meanwhile, it's widely known that Maria and the entire Kennedy family were horrified by the star and her racy ways!

With several Kennedy members waging battles with substance abuse, Maria feared the same fate for Patrick if he stayed with 22-year-old Miley.

"Maria's already at wit's end, but she'd go nuts if Patrick proposed to Miley," a source said.

Now insiders believe Patrick is beginning to heed the family's warnings about the "Party in the USA" singer.

"Patrick has been spending fewer nights at her house, and he bailed on a planned March trip to the Caribbean," said a source. "He's pulling back – much to Maria's delight."

Sandra turns up 'The Heat!'

She finds love with co-star Michael

SANDRA Bullock has FINALLY found love – with her longtime pal and co-star in “The Heat,” actor Michael McDonald!

“Sandy can’t believe that Mr. Right was standing right in front of her all this time!” said a close pal of the Oscar-winning beauty.

The new couple, both 50, was recently photographed looking blissfully happy as they celebrated Mardi Gras in Sandra’s adopted hometown of New Orleans.

Not surprisingly, friends are thrilled with her choice!

“Sandy’s been chasing romance with guys who were either too young or too unavailable,” said the pal.

“The Blind Side” star’s past dates have included 17 years younger “Avengers” star Chris Evans, reformed playboy George Clooney and new dad Ryan Reynolds.

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, Sandra – mom to 5-year-old son Louis – is looking to adopt again – and friends said she’s delighted at the possibility of Michael sharing parenting duties.

“Michael has encouraged Sandy to move forward with her adoption plans, so they can raise the child together,” a close friend added.

“Sandy’s thrilled about it. She finally has the family unit

Sandra enjoyed Mardi Gras with son Louis and Michael, who had his arms wrapped around the actress she always dreamed of.”

While the actress has been close to Michael for years, sparks didn’t fly until they joined up for 2013’s “The Heat.” In fact, it was their co-star, Melissa McCarthy, who assured Sandra that Michael was the man for her.

“At first, Sandy blew it off, saying he wasn’t her type,” a pal said. “But Michael has an amazing quality that Sandy can’t resist – the ability to keep her laughing.”

Now the two seem to be settling into a quiet, happy life together, pals said.

“It’s early yet, but no one in Sandy’s tight-knit inner circle would be surprised if she and Michael are engaged by year’s end,” the pal added.

For Sally & Burt, WEDDING BELLS MAY FINALLY TOLL

AFTER being reunited by the hard luck of his golden years, Burt Reynolds is mulling marriage with longtime love Sally Field.

“It would be a fairytale,” a source said. “Maybe for Burt and Sally, there is such a thing as a second chance at love.”

The lovebirds’ romance blossomed on the set of 1977’s “Smokey and the Bandit,” and grew over a rollicking five-year relationship. But “their timing was always off,” a source close to Sally has reportedly said.

When Burt, now 79, did finally pop the Screen legends Sally and Burt were famously the Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt of their day question, Sally, now 68, said no.

The pair discovered each other again through the veil of passing years and accompanying tragedies. Burt has struggled with rehab stints, a quintuple heart bypass, back surgeries, home foreclosure and an estrangement from son Quinton.

“Sally was devastated when she learned the extent of Burt’s troubles,” a source told The National ENQUIRER before Christmas.

Now, according to another source: “Burt is getting ready to pop the question!”

SOFIA STALLS ON WEDDING DATE!

Vergara in no rush to walk down the aisle

SOFIA Vergara and Joe Manganiello have agreed to say “I do” – but it’s more like “I don’t” when it comes to setting a date!

The 38-year-old hunk tried to push the “Modern Family” spitfire, 42, into a quickie spring wedding, but she balked, friends confided to The National ENQUIRER.

“Sofia isn’t going to do anything that doesn’t fit her schedule,” a pal revealed. “She’s telling Joe they can plan a late-fall wedding ... at best.”

The “True Blood” stud asked Sofia to marry him over the Christmas holiday, but it’s been a nonstop tussle ever since to find the right date!

“Joe wanted to get married quickly, but Sofia insisted she wanted a big, splashy wedding, and she wasn’t going to do something thrown together,” the friend divulged.

The Colombian hottie has a son, Manolo, 22, from a teen marriage. But the single mom’s career has exploded since she became a comedy sensation on the hit ABC sitcom in 2009. Now Sofia’s the highest-paid actress on TV, raking in an estimated $37 million a year.

What’s more, she’s been all business since kicking former fiancé Nicholas Loeb to the curb in May 2014. “One thing Joe has come around to seeing is that Sofia is a force of nature, and their wedding is going to be on her time – on her terms,” added the source.

The couple remain solid, but are still finding their way in a relationship that is less than a year old, friends said.

“They’re committed, but they are still learning about each other,” the pal said. “I’m not sure theirs will ever be an equal partnership.”

Demi craves MOORE SEX!

But having daughter Tallulah around means she’s not getting it

WITH her recently rehabbed daughter as a new roommate, Demi Moore’s love life has hit the skids, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

Drug-troubled Tallulah Willis, 21, spent 45 days at an addiction clinic last summer, and Demi recently invited her to live with her and rocker beau Sean Friday, sources claimed.

“But having Tallulah around the house has almost completely killed the romance between them!” an insider revealed.

Demi, 52, and the Dead Sara drummer, 28, have been dating for nearly two years and, as The ENQUIRER has reported, their relationship was already on shaky ground.

Things are worse with Tallulah in the house, insiders said, and Sean is most upset that he gets no time alone with Demi.

“Whenever Sean and Demi go out to dinner or a yoga class, Demi invites Tallulah along. She invites her friends over too, which gives Sean and Demi very little privacy,” the source divulged.

A fed-up Sean has issued an ultimatum, sources said.

“Sean told Demi if Tallulah doesn’t go, he will,” said a pal. “But Demi warned Sean that if push comes to shove, he’s the one who’ll get the boot!”

Wrap your noggin around this: a heaping helping of pistachios has the same calories as a handful of potato chips. Pistachios are naturally cholesterol and trans fat free, a good source of protein and fiber, and heart-friendly. A recent Harvard study also suggests that eating nuts seven times a week or more is as healthy as it is smart. Which makes pistachios the sane choice when it comes to snacks.

Scientific evidence suggests but does not prove that eating 1.5 ounces per day of most nuts, such as pistachios, as part of a diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol may reduce the risk of heart disease. NATALIE WOOD'S TORRID AFFAIR

■ She LIVED IN FEAR of husband Wagner's anger, says 'G-Man'

■ Stunning reveal
MOTIVE FOR MURDER

A FORMER FBI agent has claimed he carried on a four-year love affair with Natalie Wood - a sensational revelation that could finally prove the screen legend's mysterious death 33 years ago was really a shocking act of murder.

"We were in love with each other," hunky "G-Man" Donald Wilson declared in a blockbuster interview.

Speaking exclusively to The National ENQUIRER, Donald, now 72, broke his silence and said the doomed "West Side Story" actress was frequently verbally abused by hothead husband Robert Wagner!

"Natalie made it very clear to me that she was afraid her husband would kill her," claimed Donald, who dated the actress behind the back of Wagner during his second marriage to Natalie.

"[Wagner] had a violent temper, and she never knew when he was going to go off. Natalie said that she might do something that she thought was minor, and he would become volatile."

THE STARTLING SEX secret, kept hidden for 33 years, rips the lid off another potential motive for her killing on board her yacht "Splendour," according to investigators desperately trying to solve the Hollywood mystery.

Donald told The ENQUIRER: "When I heard what had happened, I knew right away this was no accident."

Donald met Natalie in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, in 1973. He was on a law enforcement speaking tour. She was pregnant and hiding out from Wagner.

"She told me her presence in Idaho was a spur-of-the-moment trip in an effort to distance herself from her husband," Donald said.

"Natalie explained that there were many times that he put her in fear for her life."

The two exchanged phone numbers and continued to meet up.

Donald said they kept their romance a secret because the disclosure would "harm" Natalie's film career and his FBI career.

When asked why she stayed with him, Natalie - who divorced Wagner in 1962, only to remarry him in 1972 - told Donald: "I don't know the answer. I certainly don't know why I remarried

WORST DECISION I EVER MADE'

him. It was the worst decision I ever made."

Donald said Natalie was unhappy and fearful of her husband.

"I found her to be highly intelligent, compassionate - and surprisingly naïve, considering her Hollywood superstar status," Donald added.

"And she lived in fear of Robert Wagner."

Donald said he and Natalie mutually agreed to end their romance in 1977.

FOUR YEARS LATER, Natalie's body was found floating off Catalina Island. Her cause of death was originally ruled an "accidental drowning."

But homicide investigators reopened the case in 2011, and a year later the Medical Examiner's Office changed Natalie's cause of death to "drowning and other undetermined factors."

Police have not identified Wagner or Natalie's "Brainstorm" co-star Christopher Walken, now 71, as suspects, but former captain of the "Splendour," Dennis Davern - who was on the yacht that fateful night - has implicated

Wagner to authorities.

Dennis, who passed a polygraph given by police, said Wagner fought with Natalie before she vanished from the boat. He also claimed Wagner delayed searching for her.

Wagner, now 85, denies any responsibility for her death, but Donald told The ENQUIRER he's willing to describe to authorities the torment the "Rebel Without a Cause" actress described to him.

Donald believes his intimate knowledge of Natalie's innermost fears and past is "relevant" to any ongoing criminal investigation.

"I'll tell you this: I will have no hesitancy to testify under oath before a grand jury or a subsequent legal proceeding," Donald told The ENQUIRER.

DONALD, WHO BECAME a private security consultant after leaving the FBI in the late '70s, gained national attention in 2000 when he worked on the Martin Luther King, Jr., assassination case. Despite documents obtained by Donald, a Justice Department probe determined James Earl Ray acted alone.

Now, after years of silence, Donald is anxious to reveal what he knows about another enduring American mystery - Natalie's death. He told The ENQUIRER: "Because of my fond memory of her and also to witness justice prevail, I feel compelled to break my silence."

IN YET another substance-fueled meltdown, Charlie Sheen attacked his mother in a profanity-laced tirade, smashed his People's Choice Award and slashed his own arm before being subdued and taken to the hospital!

The bizarre fiasco unfolded during a backyard barbecue at Charlie's Beverly Hills mansion in Oct. 2013, an eyewitness has revealed to The National ENQUIRER.

The former "Two and a Half Men" star – who rose from the dead in the series finale only to be killed again – was blotto on a cocktail involving single-malt Scotch, said the source.

When his then-girlfriend, adult actress Scottine Ross, complained that the actor's 70-year-old mother, Janet, had "disrespected" her, Charlie flipped out, added the source.

"Janet blew Scottine off because as far as she was concerned, Scottine was just another one of Charlie's floozies," claimed the spy.

"But Charlie was convinced that he was in love with Scottine, and he was going to marry her, so he got all bent out of shape."

Mother and son faced off in the kitchen, but the spat was loud enough for the 15 horrified guests, including Charlie's ex-wife Denise Richards and dad, Martin Sheen, to hear Charlie call his mother "a f---ing b----," said the source.

The argument lasted several minutes before Charlie ran into his bedroom, locked the door and began blasting ear-shattering heavy metal music through the mansion's speaker system.

"He ran to his room like a baby with a hand grenade," the source told The ENQUIRER. "His guests were like, 'Really? Again?'"

Then Charlie walked out onto the balcony and hurled the 14-inch hand-cut Waterford Crystal People's Choice trophy over the railing – an act that revealed his true feeling about the show that once paid him $2 million an episode.

The ENQUIRER has exclusively obtained a photo of the damage the award sustained!

Said the source: "It didn't hit anybody. It hit the terrace and part of it went into the pool!"

That's when the "Anger Management" star went back into the bedroom, and slashed his left forearm with a knife. Security guards quickly broke in, the source said, and hauled him off to a hospital.

Kim snubs $100 million TV deal!

THERE'S a $100 million payoff for the next four seasons of "Keeping Up with the Kardashians" – but Kim may blow the deal after getting fed up with "keeping up" with Kris!

The infamous Kardashian mom negotiated the E! Network contract that can pay up to nine figures for the Kardashian family, but never consulted daughter Kim.

Now the show's centerpiece is furious her scheming mother dragged her into the multimillion-dollar deal!

"Kim is pissed," a source told The National ENQUIRER. "She thinks reality TV may not be for her anymore – and she's made so much money already, the new contract doesn't matter."

And momager Kris managed to outrage Kim even more by leaving Kardashian brother Rob out of the deal, while promising the presence of her hubby Kanye West and granddaughter North!

Said the family insider: "Even though it's a lot of money," Kim might not even care that holding out on the contract could be fatal

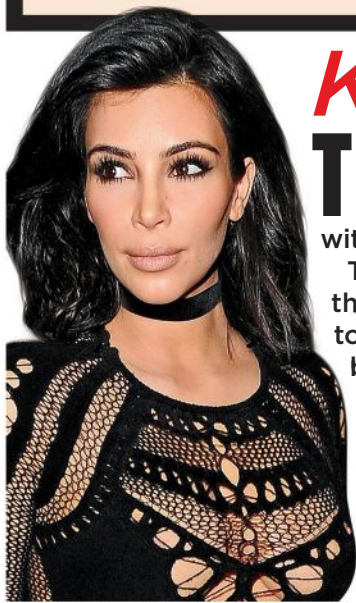

"She never agreed to sign on again," said our source.

"Now Kim is put in a difficult position."

As the source told The ENQUIRER: "Kim's own mom leveraged her to get the big payday, but Kim has her own plans!"

Cranky Crowe crams snack as mouthy fan hot-dogs him!

Hair-trigger phone-flinger RUSSELL CROWE, who's said he'll NEVER make Hollywood his home unless Australia and his native New Zealand get wiped out by a tidal wave, was munching a hot dog while strolling LA's famed outdoor shopping mall The Grove, when a muscular, 30-ish dude spotted him and cracked: "Hey, those dogs'll kill ya, ya know!" Crowe shot the guy a steely stare, snarling: "Ever tried *mind*ing your own business?" The guy grinned sarcastically as his girlfriend pulled him away, saying, "Stop being so rude!" Hissed Crowe: "Yeah, listen to the beautiful lady, mate!" But damage to Crowe's sensitive soul had apparently ruined his appetite – so he viciously flung his half-chomped dog into a trash can! Eddie quickly sent the woman away as Hannah barked, 'What do you think you're doing? We're just married, and I will NOT allow another woman to put her hands on you!' So Eddie ordered male masseurs – but two days later, the hotel blew it ... sending a masseuse encore! Luckily, Hannah was out, but Eddie – worried she'd walk in to find a female rub-a-dubbing him – sent the pretty package packing pronto, saying, 'My wife will FREAK if she finds you here!'" Said a friend: "Benedict couldn't believe someone actually snatched his shoes while he was sampling new ones!" The SOLE suspects? Two HEELS who'd been eyeing him! Said the source:

"Benedict suspects it was these 20-ish girls who'd been gazing at him nonstop - the kind known as 'Cumberbitches' - as he wondered why they were in the men's salon. He said, 'Those girls took 'em, I'll bet! So I ended up having to buy expensive shoes - or walk out of there barefoot!" (Just in time to walk on-stage - but NOT for your Oscar! Quite a kick, Benedict!) ... And how was YOUR week?

QUIT FLIRTING, GEORGE!

GEORGE Clooney's marriage has felt the sting of the Black Widow – with newlywed wife Amal reading him the riot act over flirting with “Avengers” actress Scarlett Johansson!

And it could be “the last straw” for the troubled couple's five-month marriage, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

Amal, 37, flipped out when the 53-year-old former ladies' man ditched his bride on her Feb. 3 birthday to race to the Simi Valley, Calif., set of “Hail, Caesar!” – where George is filming scenes with his co-star Scarlett, a friend revealed. “Amal and George had a huge screaming match over that,” divulged the insider.

“She ignored all of his calls and texts, and wouldn't talk to him for days. Amal warned George that she won't tolerate being disrespected like that.”

Added another insider: “While Amal is an accomplished international lawyer, she's no movie star – and someone as gorgeous as Scarlett gets under Amal's skin. George says there's nothing more than a movie friendship on the set, but Amal's seeing red!

“It doesn't matter to Amal that Scarlett is married [to French journalist Romain Dauriac] and has a baby daughter. Amal has heard that George lavished attention on Scarlett on set, and that he flirts with her as if he's still a single man.”

The sources revealed things only got worse for the embattled newlyweds.

Said one friend: “George had the chance to make it up to Amal on Valentine's Day – but instead of giving her an over-the-top romantic dinner on their first V-day as man and wife, he included five other friends! It was not the romantic night Amal had envisioned.”

That – along with a laundry list of broken promises – has friends fearing George and Amal's marriage is on fast track for a $220 million Hollywood divorce.

“George is backtracking on vows he made to Amal when they married,” a source told THE ENQUIRER.

“For starters, even though George promised to move to London to support Amal's career, he's now refusing.”

The couple bought a nine-bedroom country house near Amal's London offices, but renovations on the 17th century manor are dragging, “which George uses as an excuse not to move in,” said the source. ►

AFTER nearly 10 years of marriage, friends fear Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner are headed for a $150 million divorce, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

Rumors of a rift heated up after a flirty Oscar-night exchange between the “Gone Girl” hunk and his former fiancée, single-and-looking hottie Jennifer Lopez.

According to a source, Ben approached J.Lo during a commercial break and whispered in her ear. That prompted Jenny from the Block to affectionately smack him on the arm.

“It looked as if sparks were flying,” said an insider. “Ben’s wife definitely would not have appreciated it.”

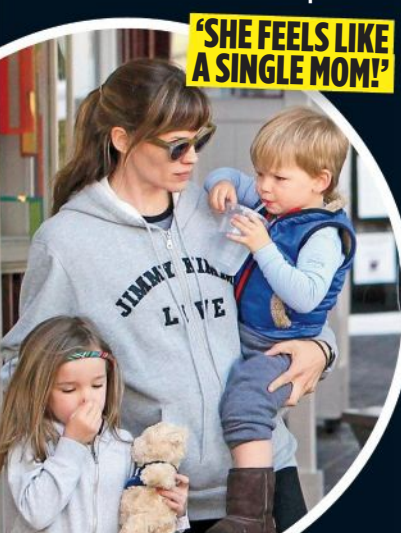

Ben’s wife skipped the Oscars, so he hit several parties solo after the Feb. 22 event.

As The ENQUIRER reported, Ben’s history of cheating, compulsive gambling and killer work schedule have left the couple – both 42 – struggling.

We first exposed Ben’s wandering eye in 2003 when we revealed he’d frolicked with a group of Vancouver strippers while engaged to J. Lo!

She dumped him, and rumors of marital woes have reportedly plagued the Afflecks since they wed in 2005.

over a year ago, the two drifted apart as Ben threw himself into acting and directing stints, while Jennifer struggled to juggle motherhood with her career.

“He’s constantly working, leaving her alone with the children for days and weeks at a time. She feels like a single mother!” an insider said.

What’s more, Ben renewed fears for his sobriety in 2010 when he was seen drinking.

With his history of gambling and alcohol abuse, Jennifer feels as if she has to keep an eye on him, as well as their three kids, ages 3 to 9.

“It’s all taking a toll on her. She constantly checks in with Ben when he is gone, but that frustrates him and leads to huge fights,” the source said.

While Jennifer met Ben for breakfast the morning after the Oscars, friends think it’s ominous that she didn’t accompany him to the event, and say the relationship has never been rockier for the A-listers, who are worth a combined $150 million.

“They just seem very disconnected these days,” added the insider. “If they can’t reconnect, it could mean a megamillion-dollar divorce!”

Romeo Misses A Payment is a must-see film for anyone concerned with families, children and parental rights. Documenting the complicated and often lopsided world of divorce and child custody through the eyes of those affected most- children, parents and extended families- the film also features the expert testimonies of attorneys, judges and law officers who are caught up in the "business" of divorce.

Struggling with financing, time and patience Director Angelo Lobo and Producer Jeff Polinsky knew they must continue the journey of making Romeo Misses A Payment when the first of several suicide notes appeared in their inbox. Written by distraught parents being churned up in the divorce system, the filmmakers became determined to force an examination of standard divorce procedure in the U.S., where, in most cases, everyone loses—most especially the children. Sadly based on economic feasibility, Romeo Misses A Payment is a real look at the overwhelming devastation of the divorce industry and ultimately challenges America to protect families, aim higher, and find a better way.

Mary B. says:

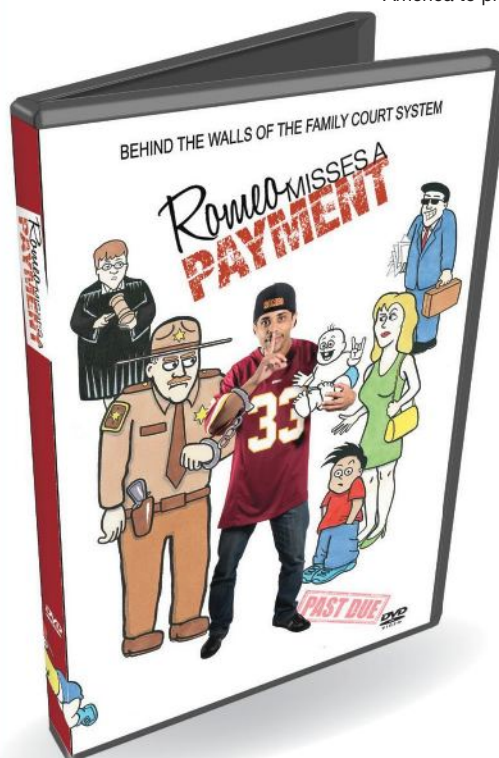

As a loving mom who, when I told the judge that I hadn't seen my daughter for four months worth of my custody time, was asked by the judge "What do you expect me to do about it?", I urge everyone who has ever lived through the hell of a custody battle to watch this movie. Can you expect that your child will be taken away from you just because your spouse ran off with someone else? Oh yes. You can.

Darrick S. says:

Thank you for promoting this issue and this site. I have bought 10 of these to send to my politicians with a letter asking them to act on changes in the law.

WITH a $550 million divorce looming, Barbra Streisand is hiding dark secrets and lies in her 16-year marriage to James Brolin!

The diva hasn't told him the truth about her relationship with former President Bill Clinton or her longtime crush on actor Robert Redford, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

What's more, sources said 72-year-old Barbra – who is extremely spiritual – is keeping her “secret” consultations with psychics and mystics from him.

“She turned to psychics and mystics, who told her there's no spiritual connection with James,” said an insider.

The ENQUIRER has also learned that Barbra once claimed to Dustin Hoffman

Barbra believes she has a deep “connection” with Bill Clinton that she and James, 74, had sex six times a week!

But a source said: “Nothing could be further from the truth! Barbra's telling tall tales, attempting to show that they have a great sex life when that's not what is going on. The truth is, Babs has banned him from sex to teach him a lesson and keep his eyes off other women!”

As The ENQUIRER has reported, James is smitten with “Castle” co-star Stana Katic, and walked out on Barbra for a period of time.

Meanwhile, Barbra believes she has a “spiritual connection” with Bill and Robert, her co-star in the 1973 tearjerker “The Way We Were,” the source said.

“Barbra still harbors fantasies about what would have happened if Bill had left Hillary for her – or if she'd ended up with Redford,” the insider added.

The feudin' reportedly began at a Grammys party, but The ENQUIRER has learned he's been on a bender since the Super Bowl. On Feb. 1, hours before kickoff, Blake posted on social media: “Getting ready for the big game. By

Two days later, Miranda won the Grammy for Best Country Album, and didn't mention him in her acceptance speech. Things only got worse at the after-party they hosted.

'ZOMBIE HUNTER' NUT NABBED OVER MUTILATION MURDERS!

Delivery driver

AN ODDBALL delivery man who patrolled the streets of Phoenix, Ariz., in a decommissioned police car as a self-styled "Zombie Hunter" has been arrested in connection with two gruesome 1990s mutilation murders – one involving a decapitation.

"This guy has eluded arrest for over 20 years for two horrific murders that terrorized this community," Sgt. Trent Crump of the Phoenix Police Department told The National ENQUIRER. "This is a big win."

For the last 13 years, the suspect, 42-year-old Bryan Patrick Miller, has cultivated his image as a local celebrity.

He marketed his Zombie Hunter police cruiser, complete with corpse mannequins in the back seat, on his Facebook page for appearances at "your comic store, zombie walk or apocalypse-themed film and photo shoot."

Now, The ENQUIRER can reveal that this is not Miller's first brush with the law. He was questioned and released during the investigation into a stabbing of a Washington woman in 2002. He also served time as a juvenile for stabbing a girl in high school!

"We didn't know about Washington until after the arrest, and the other stabbing had been expunged," Sgt. Crump said.

Miller was arrested at his job at the Amazon.com warehouse for the grisly murders of Angela Brosso, 22, who disappeared in Nov. 1992, and Melanie Bernas, 17, who vanished 11 months later.

Both women were cycling when they vanished. Angela's mutilated, decapitated body was discovered 11 days before her head was found floating in the Arizona Canal. Melanie's corpse was found floating in the same canal 11 months later.

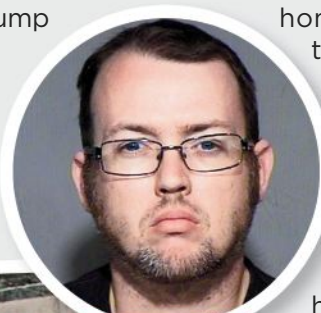

Police scoured Miller's home looking for the missing bikes, clothing or news clippings that he may have kept as trophies that would link him to the crime.

"It's a hoarder house, packed from floor to ceiling," explained Sgt. Crump.

Miller has admitted to living in the area when the women were slaughtered, and police said new DNA evidence is damning.

Melanie Bernas, left, was just 17 when she was killed; Angela Brosso was 22

HOLLYWOOD legend James Garner was one of America's most beloved actors - but he was also the terrorized target of psychotic stalkers, as revealed in explosive FBI files exclusively obtained by The National ENQUIRER!

The 146-page dossier - hidden from the public for decades - includes a letter ominously signed by the Black Panther Party that promises to kill James over an interracial sketch on the NBC comedy show "Laugh-In."

What's more, another incident had "The Rockford Files" star threatened with murder if he didn't play real-life detective for a crazed mental patient!

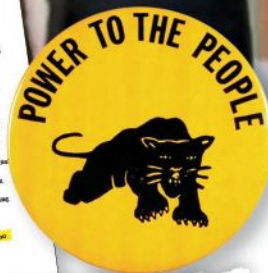

The film and television icon passed away on July 19, 2014, after a heart attack at the age of 86 - less than a month before his 58th wedding anniversary with his wife, Lois.

NOW THE ENQUIRER has the chilling scoop on official government documents that reveal the homicidal threats that James hid from his adoring public!

The actor's life was first threatened in 1969, after an

Dear Sirs:
Recently I stated one of your Laugh-In programs which was shown on March 3, 1969. One scene involved a Negro girl and James Garner. This is to inform you that, as a Negro and a member of the Black Panther Party, if another scene like that appears on television with one of you and a blonde, we will be forced to blow up the studio killing enough bodies to make Hitler blush. This is not the first time, because like this have been brought to our attention, but this is the first warning and it better be the last.

"That dam honky James Garner can be delt with too permanently [sic]," read the chilling letter signed by a member of the Black Panther Party in Chicago.

The letter-writer also threatened to "blow up the [Laugh-In] studio, killing enough honkies to make Hitler blush."

AN FBI FIELD report concluded the letter-writer "should be considered dangerous," adding: "On 3/13/69 James Garner, movie actor, telephonically contacted the Los Angeles Office at which time he acknowledged the receipt of a letter identical to the one received by [redacted]."

"Mr. Garner said he is due to travel to Chicago and will arrive in Chicago on Monday, 3/17/69 ... and will depart Chicago on Wednesday, 3/19/69."

FBI agents spoke with James and advised the actor on contacting Chicago police to provide protection during his stay. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover personally signed off on a lab report that showed "nine latent fingerprints of value" were discovered, but the author was never identified.

James would face another threat in a 1983 letter obtained by the FBI. A confused and deranged fan had contacted the actor in his role as Jim Rockford, with the lovestruck lunatic demanding that the fictional detective help him track down a very real actress.

"If you don't help me I am going to kill you! That's laying the facts down!" the man wrote James.

WHILE THE NAME of the actress was withheld by the FBI, the ranting Romeo told James: "As you know I want you to work for me in your spare time in finding a actress named [redacted]. I will pay you good money to do it."

James was also assured that his new "client" was perfectly sane: "Just because you can read my brain you probably are laughing at me because you think I am a nut. Well let me inform you I am not crazy."

In a bizarre twist, the writer revealed in another letter that he was already institutionalized, demanding that James visit him in the hospital – further ranting: "If you don't you will die. I will have no choice but to kill you! And I'm not playing any Mickey Mouse games. You got no choice to help me or be prepared to die."

An FBI investigation confirmed the man had committed a bank robbery and was residing in a "California institution in which are incarcerated mentally disordered sex offenders and the criminally insane."

The report added that any further investigation was dropped – in light of the threat being sent from inside a secure mental facility.

New claims blow 'REAL LISA MARIE' case wide open!

Personality changes in Elvis' daughter were 'CRAZY,' says his former fiancée

A SHOCKING hidden revelation in a new Elvis tell-all book supports a Swedish woman's wild claim that Lisa Marie Presley is an imposter!

As The National ENQUIRER has reported, Lisa Johansen alleges that she is the real daughter of Elvis, and was replaced by the fake Lisa Marie in a bizarre child-swap when she was 9 years old.

Johansen said the secret switch was made for security reasons after Elvis' death on Aug. 16, 1977, as she was taken from Graceland mansion in Memphis, Tenn., to safekeeping in Scandinavia – and described her childhood as a "fairytale with my father as the King."

Now an autobiography from Ginger Alden – Elvis' fiancée at the time of his death – brings explosive new insight into the unbelievable scandal!

A family insider told The ENQUIRER: "Ginger got very close to Lisa Marie in the months before Elvis' death, when that would've actually been Johansen."

"But after Elvis' death, the lookalike child treated Ginger as something of a stranger!"

Ginger's autobiography, "Elvis and Ginger," provides plenty of details about the bond between her and young Lisa Marie.

The book reveals that Lisa Marie lovingly called Ginger by the same pet name that Elvis used – "Gingerbread." The two would often shop together, and rode golf carts around the grounds of Graceland when Lisa Marie visited from the Los Angeles home where she was raised by Priscilla Presley.

Ginger also provided more disturbing details while recounting a story of visiting Graceland with her sister Rosemary – as Ginger sees "Lisa on her golf cart, watching us," just a year after his death.

Ginger wrote: "Rosemary yelled, 'Come over here!' 'I can't!' Lisa responded.

"In unison, Rosemary and I shouted, 'Why not?' Lisa replied, 'I was told not to talk with anyone.'"

The little girl Ginger had known so well only a year before now wouldn't come near her!

A confused Ginger concluded in her book that the change in Lisa Marie's behavior was "crazy," adding: "It was a strange moment."

Johansen first attempted to sue the Presley estate for $130 million in damages in 2011, with lawyers for the estate dismissing Johansen as "delusional" and "malicious."

But, as the insider noted: "Ginger obviously isn't involved in the Lisa Marie imposter case. Now this could be the bombshell evidence that Lisa Johansen has been waiting for all these years – and Ginger Alden may have no idea she has it!"

CLINT Eastwood proudly went public with his new squeeze at the Oscars on Feb. 22, but the 84-year-old "Dirty Harry" star might not know about Christina Sandera's violent past!

Christina, 51, has been arrested for "domestic battery" – and battled alcohol and anger management problems, according to explosive police reports uncovered exclusively by The National ENQUIRER.

"Clint just got out of a bad marriage and now he's found himself in a violent new romance if Christina's past is any indication," a source said.

"This certainly isn't going to make his day!"

Before Christina landed a hostess job at Clint's Mission Ranch in Carmel, Calif., she was involved in a stormy 11-month marriage to a bakery shop owner, divorce papers reveal.

Her ex, Paul Wainscoat, has told The ENQUIRER: "It was hell – I wish Clint all the luck in the world with that woman!"

Eight months before the couple wed on July 17, 2002, an "Incident Report" from the Monterey [Calif.] Police Dept. details how cops responded to an incident at Christina's home.

According to the report, she'd been dating Paul for only two months when they argued because Christina "was upset at him ... because he decided not to move in" with her.

Paul wanted to leave, police said, but Christina "grabbed onto his shirt and scratched his neck to prevent him."

When cops arrived, she still had a death grip on his shirt, and the blonde, blue-eyed spitfire was arrested for "domestic battery." Officers also noted her "strong odor" of alcohol!

Christina, in turn, claimed she was only trying to prevent her boyfriend from driving because he had been drinking.

DESPITE THE INCIDENT, the couple tied the knot. But Paul said in divorce papers the marriage was a mistake, claiming Christina wanted to be treated like "a queen" and drained him financially – costing $80,000 "considering the dental work" she wanted before the nuptials!

Paul claimed she “hit him with a closed fist in his face twice,” and “then punched him in his left arm with a closed fist” before she “threw a full bottle of Gatorade which hit him in the back of the head.”

But a friend of Christina's claimed to The ENQUIRER: "Wainscoat was actually the aggressor in the altercation."

PAUL DID NOT press charges, but blamed Christina's "drinking" before filing for divorce.

In court papers, Christina declared she wasn't an alcoholic, but said she quit booze and attended AA meetings, in addition to anger management classes.

“Christina was happy to get out of the marriage because it was she who endured physical, mental and financial abuse,” a friend said.

But the source said: "Clint may not know what he's in for with Christina - she could be a real handful!"

The marriage finally blew up on June 17, 2003, when police once again responded to a fight in which Paul was allegedly “being battered by his wife.”

BILL Cosby's drug-and-rape scandal has caught fire again with several more women coming forward to accuse the 77-year-old comic of abuse.

Former model Heidi Thomas joins the list of women that now totals more than 30!

She claimed Cosby sexually assaulted her in Reno, Nev., in 1984 when she was a 24-year-old aspiring actress.

"I do remember waking up in his bedroom, and he's naked," Heidi said on Feb. 25. "He was forcing himself [on me]."

Only a few days earlier, Canadian model Linda Brown claimed Cosby drugged and assaulted her in Toronto in 1969.

The brunette said she was 21 and set up with Cosby on a dinner date. "I took a sip and blacked out," she said. "When I awakened, I was naked in the bed beside him."

Another flood of Cosby accusers comes forward

Three other women recently claimed they, too, were assaulted. Former model Lise-Lotte Lublin said she was assaulted by Cosby in the Elvis Suite at the Hilton Hotel in Las Vegas in 1989 when she was 23.

Cindra Ladd, the wife of Hollywood producer Alan Ladd, Jr., claimed Cosby drugged and raped her in 1969.

And Helen Gumpel, an actress and former model who appeared on an episode of "The Cosby Show," claimed the star made lewd gestures to her in the late 1980s.

Since the scandal broke, Cosby's lawyers have repeatedly denied the accusations, which sources said could lead to a $350 million divorce.

Meanwhile the comic has declared: "Hey, hey, hey - I'm far from finished!"

In a statement before a show in Louisiana he said: "Dear Fans: For 53 years you have given me your love, support, respect and trust. Thank you! I can't wait to see your smiling faces and warm your hearts with a wonderful gift - LAUGHTER. I'm ready!"

But the widow of famed comic Richard Pryor also slammed Cosby in an interview.

Jennifer Lee Pryor called him a "piece of s--t" who "f--ked everything that moved," and blasted his wife of 51 years, Camille.

"Of course she knew," Jennifer said. "Why is she going for the 'okie-doke,' as Richard would say? ... I can guess why ... ka-ching!"

VICTIMS MAY HAVE BEEN KNOCKED OUT BY DOG TRANQUILIZER

AN EXCLUSIVE National ENQUIRER report revealed that Bill Cosby secretly obtained more than 2,000 "knock-out" pills to fuel his sick sexual assaults - but shocking new developments suggest some of his victims were drugged with a dog tranquilizer!

Many of the comic's accusers describe being dosed with a liquid knock-out drug, and former Boston sex crimes prosecutor Wendy Murphy has a troubling theory.

"Veterinarians use liquid drugs like ketamine when they do surgery on pets, and prescribe them for home use to help an animal sleep," Wendy explained. "Guess who has access to vets across the country? Bill Cosby!"

The actor has a decades-old hidden hobby as a dog breeder, entering prize-winning terriers into American Kennel Club shows.

Wendy, author of "And Justice For Some," said ketamine is an odorless and colorless medication - which Cosby could have acquired without an incriminating paper trail.

"Cosby could have easily obtained the liquid sedative by saying it was to ease the transport of his dogs!" she added.

TRAVOLTA PLOT TO KIL HORROR!

Scientists wanted to ki and John did nothing to help, sa

JOHN Travolta's nephew has accused the superstar of allowing Scientology to persecute him relentlessly after he quit the controversial church, The National ENQUIRER can now reveal.

In a bombshell exclusive interview, Sam Travolta, Jr., claimed members of the cult-like religion "terrorized" him with death threats and other harassing tactics for years – even driving him to attempt suicide!

Sam has lived on the run since fleeing Scientology in 2007. Now, he is speaking to the media for the first time – disclosing his horrific story to The ENQUIRER after our exhaustive months-long investigation tracked him down in a small Midwestern town.

For the sake of Sam's safety, The ENQUIRER is withholding his exact whereabouts. But the 47-year-old screenwriter claimed he remains fearful for his life, even though Scientology's harassment campaign seemed to end in 2012.

"Scientology almost killed me!" Sam declared in a no-holds-barred interview.

"It's psychological warfare, and after a while it gets to you. Things got so bad that I tried to jump off a bridge in Los Angeles in January 2007, trying to kill myself!"

After that failed suicide attempt, Sam said he spent 28 days in a mental treatment center.

'They would mouth to me:
You are dead'

Sam said the persecution included Scientology members "planting drugs on me," and "spreading rumors around town that I was psychotic, and even worse – a pedophile!"

THE ABUSE CONTINUED for years, according to Sam, and most shocking to him was the fact that his famous uncle couldn't intervene on his behalf.

The "Saturday Night Fever" star is known as one of Scientology's most high-profile celebrities. John and his wife, Kelly Preston, also a Scientologist, have publicly credited the church with helping them cope with the death of their son, Jett, in 2009.

The Church of Scientology did not respond to The ENQUIRER's request for comment regarding the claims made in this story. However, Travolta's lawyer vehemently denied that John allowed Scientology to persecute Sam.

But Sam told The ENQUIRER: "My Uncle John told me, 'Sorry, Sam, I can't help you. They don't care who I am.'"

But since then, John has stepped up, according to Sam, and now helps him financially. Through his father, Sam, Sr., he said he receives about $1,800 a

SAM TRAVOLTA'S SHOCKING CONFESSIONS ONLINE

4. Did you see, experience, or hear about things that didn't seem right while you were in the Church of Scientology? What were they, and what convinced you to set aside your feelings?

Yes lots of verbal abuse and no pay for labor.

10. Any additional comments you would like to make?

Yeah, Scientologist[s] have followed me to this [s]mall midwest town and have spread rumors about me being a pedophile [sic]. And you can throw out the doctors as being enemies cause they used the Torrance hospital to label me crazy and put me on drugs and say I was delusional.

month from the "Pulp Fiction" star - even though the two haven't spoken since 2006.

"I'm a struggling screenwriter living in a tiny one-bedroom apartment, so John's money helps," a grateful Sam told The ENQUIRER. As for John's devotion to Scientology, Sam said: "My Uncle John never pressured any of his family to join Scientology.

But he appeared to be 'friendlier' to you when he knew you were involved with the religion."

For Sam, joining Scientology offered hope that he could turn his life around.

AT THE TIME, "I was severely depressed and living in a homeless shelter," he said.

But his decade-long association with the cult-like religion only made things worse.

"They told me I had the equivalent of a fourth-grade education, so they had me do menial jobs," he recalled.

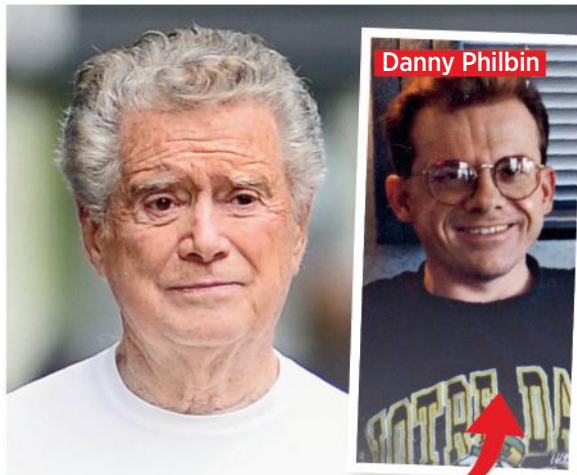

"I was a file clerk in their LA ORG building on Sunset Boulevard. I worked in a room nicknamed the 'Gold Mine,' because it contained lots of records. I was constantly being yelled at to work faster. I was making $36 for a 60-hour week."

Before he finally cut ties with the church, other members "would mouth to me, 'You are dead,' over and over again. It was all about mental control for them," he said.

Sam claimed on an anti-Scientology blog that he sought help from the FBI at one point, "but they blew me off because they're all friends of John Travolta." Now, eight years after quitting the religion, Sam's just trying to get on with his life.

He told The ENQUIRER: "I blame Scientology for all my problems, but I'm okay."

Danny Philbin

REGIS' 'HERO' SON'S TRAGIC DEATH AT 49

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

SIX years after The National ENQUIRER helped Regis Philbin reconcile with his troubled son, Danny Philbin tragically died from natural causes at age 49.

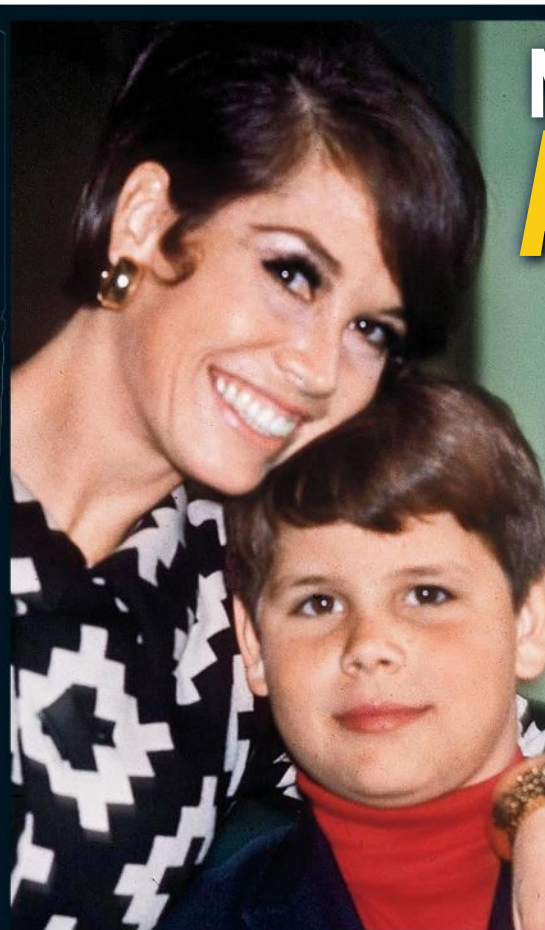

"He was a hero to all of us," a friend said of Danny's Nov. 7 passing.

Danny was born to Regis and first wife Catherine with a spinal cord defect that led to the amputation of his legs. He'd go on to earn top college degrees while working in public affairs.

But Danny had a strained relationship with his famous dad. His then-wife appealed to Regis for help through The ENQUIRER in 2008 - with the couple borrowing money to buy groceries.

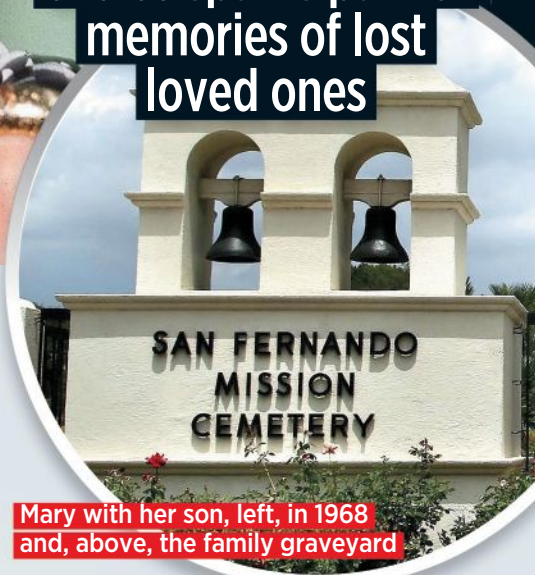

Regis quickly provided his son with some financial relief, assuring The ENQUIRER: "Yes, he's all set."

More important, Regis was in regular contact with Danny in his son's final years - and a family friend confirmed to The ENQUIRER that Regis attended Danny's funeral.

Mary Tyler Moore's AGONIZING FINAL DECISION!

Burial or cremation choice sparks painful memories of lost loved ones

Mary with her son, left, in 1968 and, above, the family graveyard

AS TELEVISION legend Mary Tyler Moore spends her sad last days in the grip of dementia, her few lucid moments are spent deciding on her resting place - while being reminded of the tragic deaths of her loved ones!

"With most of her affairs now in order, Mary is left with making the gut-wrenching and difficult decision of whether to be buried or cremated," a family insider told The National ENQUIRER.

But the source also revealed the heartbreak behind that decision, as the beloved star, 78, ponders being buried alongside her kid sister, who died of a drug overdose - or joining her only son and her younger brother in having her ashes scattered.

Mary is wrestling with these decisions with husband Dr. Robert Levine as she lives out her remaining days at their $10 million estate in Greenwich, Conn.

The dying star is considering cremation as a tribute to her son, Richie, who died of an accidental self-inflicted gunshot wound in 1980 when he was 24.

"Mary says how wonderful it would be to be free as a bird, her ashes blowing in the same clear air where Richie's were scattered" over the Owens River in Mammoth Lakes, Calif., the source revealed.

Richie passed away just two years after Mary's sister, Elizabeth Ann, died from a drug overdose. And Mary's world was rocked again when her brother, John Hackett Moore, who worked as a prop man at MTM Studios, died from kidney cancer in 1991, with his body cremated.

Meanwhile, Mary's parents and sister are interred at San Fernando Mission Cemetery in California.

"Right now, Mary's leaning toward cremation," said the friend. "The thought of her ashes intermingling with Richie's lit up Mary's face, spreading that famous smile from cheek to cheek."

JAY Z LOVE CHILD SCANDAL

EXPLODES!

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

Rap fans say Rymir shows a resemblance!

emerges of the rap king & baby mama

THIS is the photo that could blow Jay Z's paternity scandal wide open – and fuel the billion-dollar divorce drama brewing between the rap mogul and his superstar wife, Beyoncé.

The long-buried image, provided to The National ENQUIRER, shows Jay Z with the mother of his alleged love child, according to the website "Diary of a Hollywood Street King."

As we first reported in a blockbuster exclusive that re-verberated around the world, Jay Z is desperate to avoid a DNA test that could prove he's the father of 21-year-old Rymir Satterthwaite!

The rapper's glamorous wife is also against him taking a DNA test, pals said, after Beyoncé saw the never-before-published picture of her smiling hubby embracing Rymir's mom!

"Beyoncé knows Jay Z's history as a player, and she's not ready to deal with the drama," said a source. "As far as she's concerned, it's just [their] daughter Blue Ivy and them."

An insider who's worked with Jay Z for over 20 years confided: "Women have been throwing themselves at this dude for a long time. Let's say he takes a paternity test, and it shows he's Rymir's dad.

"Now you've opened up a can of worms, and other groupies are going to come forward."

In explosive legal documents uncovered by The ENQUIRER, Rymir told a New Jersey court that his mom, Wanda Satterthwaite, had steamy sex sessions with Jay Z in the early 1990s.

A civil suit filed by Rymir's legal guardian, Lillie Coley, in Dec. 2014 accused 45-year-old Jay Z of avoiding a DNA test by lying to the court about his legal residence.

As the legal maneuvers play out, Lillie said in an exclusive interview: "The truth is going to come out that Jay is his dad. We know what the truth is!"

A relative added: "Wanda's

Jay Z and Wanda in an intimate embrace

not going to get millions from Jay Z now. She might be able to get some back support from maybe two or three years [worth], but that's it. She just wants Rymir to benefit."

It seems "Crazy In Love" diva Beyoncé has good reason to get crazy over this baby mama drama, too.

At The ENQUIRER's request, plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn compared photos of Jay Z and Rymir and said: "Their facial structures appear very similar. It could be genetics!"

— STACY BROWN

In our March 2 issue we revealed that if Rymir was proved to be Jay Z's child, the powerful couple's marriage could end in divorce

U.S. 'SHOT DOWN MISSING MALAYSIA PLANE KILLING ALL 239 PEOPLE ON BOARD'

THE U.S. military shot down ill-fated Malaysia Airlines Flight 370 over the South China Sea in a joint military exercise with Thailand!

That's the shocking claim disclosed in a tell-all on the one-year anniversary of the airliner's mysterious disappearance – which could expose a sensational “cover-up” behind the deaths of 239 people who were on board.

Now, an exclusive National ENQUIRER investigation exposes troubling new possibilities that could rock the highest levels of the Obama administration!

The vanished Flight 370 departed Kuala Lumpur at 12:41 a.m. on March 8, 2014. The doomed passengers – including three Americans – were traveling to Beijing, China.

The plane's transponder, which sends signals to ground control, was turned off nearly an hour into the flight.

“THE AIRLINER MAY have been blown away by U.S. warships during a joint military exercise with Thailand,” Nigel Cawthorne, author of “Flight MH370: The Mystery,” told The ENQUIRER.

“There was a New Zealand guy working on a Vietnamese oil rig who said that he saw what could've been a burning plane crashing into the South China Sea.”

What's more, as part of the “cover-up,” Nigel claimed officials from both governments “misdirected” investigators toward the Indian Ocean instead of the South China Sea.

“After all, no wreckage has been found in the south Indian Ocean, which in itself is suspicious,” Nigel added.

A former French airline CEO has charged that the wayward jet was shot down while approaching the U.S. naval military base on the Diego Garcia atoll, located in the middle of the Indian Ocean.

“IT'S AN EXTREMELY powerful military base,” said Marc Dugain, the former head of Proteus Airlines.

Marc said he spoke to fishermen from the nearby island nation of Maldives, who told him a “huge plane” flew overhead at a very low altitude, and he was shown photographs

The yellow line along this map shows the route the plane took and where search teams have been looking

A crime, or a terrible accident?

MALAYSIA Airlines Flight 370 has inspired several theories, from respected authors – and even from “Law & Order: SVU” star Richard Belzer!

Aviation expert Christine Negroni, author of the upcoming “The Crash Detectives,” believes the Boeing 777 depressurized, depriving oxygen to the 239 passengers and crew as the plane flew on automatic pilot, before running out of fuel and crashing into the ocean.

book claims of possible debris that had washed up on the beach of a neighboring island.

Pentagon spokesman Rear Adm. John Kirby denied the allegation and said: "This claim is too ridiculous to deserve a serious response."

A shocked Aubrey Wood - whose 50-year-old son, Philip, was on board the doomed flight - told The ENQUIRER this was the first time he'd heard the theory.

"They may be covering a lot of things up," the 76-year-old Texan said in an exclusive interview. "Even if it had been shot down, they should have 'fessed up to it!"

Richard recently published an e-book suggesting the U.S. government hijacked the plane to a military base. Other conspiracy theorists have said the flight was taken by terrorists to use in a later 9/11-style attack.

Kelly in February, left, and in concert in May 2005

KELLY COLLAPSE FEARS

Pals worry as Clarkson's weight balloons to 200 lbs!

NEW mom Kelly Clarkson has ballooned to over 200 pounds since giving birth – and friends fear she's heading for serious health problems with her upcoming summer tour!

"As energetic as Kelly likes to be on stage, you fear she's going to collapse with all that added weight she's carrying on her," a concerned insider told The National ENQUIRER.

Texas-born Kelly, 32, has scored a dozen hit singles and sold 20 million albums since winning the first "American Idol" title in 2002. She's long battled the bulge though, and has admitted to being bulimic in high school.

In 2011, when Kelly began dating talent manager Brandon Blackstock, the "Moment Like This" singer hired a personal trainer and shed an impressive 30 pounds from her 5-foot-4 frame.

But her weight loss success was short-lived. The "Since U Been Gone" songbird became pregnant shortly after marrying Brandon in October 2013, and piled on the pregnancy pounds.

Their daughter, River Rose, was born last June, but Kelly's weight has just kept climbing.

"You have to admire Kelly. She's the butt of some of the cruelest online comments imaginable about her weight, yet it just rolls off her back," said the friend.

"But there comes a time when you have to address these things, just for your own health and well-being. Kelly isn't at that place yet."

TAYLOR INSURES HER LEGS FOR $40M!

SASSY "Shake It Off" singer Taylor Swift just shook herself up – by learning she can insure her famous legs for outrageously big bucks!

The 25-year-old loves to show off her stems, but the pop princess was still shocked to learn their worth was estimated at a cool $40 million!

"It seems like a ludicrous sum, but if something was to happen to her legs, Taylor wouldn't be able to give her signature stage performances," a source said.

"Her $200 million career would be in big trouble."

Taylor's fellow gals with pricey gams include Heidi Klum, pop star Rihanna, Tina Turner and Mariah Carey – whose legs are said to be valued at $1 billion!

The astronomical figure stunned the singer, friends said, but Taylor's determined to follow through.

"She thought her legs were possibly worth a million," the source added. "But $40 million shocked her. She's even a little embarrassed about it."

Taylor's team is plowing through the paperwork now, claimed the source, adding: "She wants it all sorted out before her world tour starts in May."

Taylor thinks her leggy look is part of her success, but was surprised to hear they could be worth $40 million

Revealed: Secret SHATNER feud that NIMOY took to his grave!

HE LIVED LONG AND PROSPERED
1931–2015

Leonard and William's rift went on for decades!

LEGENDARY “Star Trek” actor Leonard Nimoy, beloved to sci-fi fans as Mr. Spock, has died at age 83 – putting an end to one of showbiz’s longest and strangest feuds!

The longtime television star suffered from the smoking-related lung disease COPD, with Leonard enduring a hospital stay just two weeks before his peaceful death on February 27 in his Bel-Air home.

And his passing will leave an open wound with his co-star William Shatner, 83, who played Captain Kirk in the hit ‘60s sci-fi series.

“Star Trek” was supposed to be William’s showcase for stardom – and tensions went wild on the set as Spock began to literally receive laundry bags full of mail.

“The electricity over there is so heavy you could charge a battery with it,” said a series insider at the time, with an anonymous guest star adding: “You soon find out that Nimoy is the star, but Shatner is the boss.”

One notorious incident involved William arriving to have his makeup done, only to find a magazine photographer

William and Leonard's feud was fired by competition on “Star Trek” documenting the application of Spock’s pointy ears.

As recalled by the late James Doohan, remembered as “Star Trek” engineer Scotty: “Bill’s hairpiece was being applied. The top of his head was a lot of skin and a few little odd tufts of hair.”

An embarrassed William finally stormed back to his dressing room, with production shut down for most of the day.

But the co-stars formed a closer friendship after the successful “Star Trek” film series, with William asking recovered alcoholic Leonard to help his own boozing wife, Nerine Kidd.

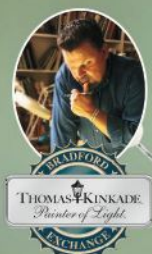

Leonard had been William’s best man at his 1997 wedding to the model, who was 28 years younger than her husband. Sadly, William’s troubled wife would be found dead in the pool of the couple’s Studio City, Calif., home in 1999, after falling and hitting her head.

The tensions still remained, though, with Leonard saying in 2010 that the longtime co-stars have “always been like two competitive siblings.”

Still, William quickly took to social media to mourn Leonard, writing: “I loved him like a brother. We will all miss his humor, his talent, and his capacity to love.”

The world was also touched by Leonard’s final post from his own Twitter account, written just four days before his passing.

The dying actor wrote: “A life is like a garden. Perfect moments can be had, but not preserved except in memory. LLAP” – referring to Spock’s traditional farewell of “Live Long and Prosper.”

Beauty Jen's man is a beast

JENNIFER Aniston and Justin Theroux are called a special nickname by friends - Beauty and the Beast!

While Jen is posh Rodeo Drive, Justin is funky Melrose Place, said pals. She loves donning designer gowns, but he's a slave to his signature all-black ensembles.

"Jen and Justin have very little in common," said a pal, adding that Jen chose neutral tones for their $21 million digs, while Justin contributed an antique candy bowl with human teeth and a series of 1900s wax busts.

"And Justin loves to jump on his Harley and head for the beach, but don't look for Jen perched on the back."

What are the odds?

OLYMPIC gymnast Nastia Liukin is the odds-on favorite to win the new season of "Dancing with the Stars." After the lineup - which also includes Rumer Willis, Willow Shields and "Shark Tank" star Robert Herjavec - was named, Las Vegas bookmaker Bovada put Nastia's odds of winning at 3 to 1.

Classic ENQUIRER

BRITNEY Spears' mental breakdown - complete with head shaving, late-night tattooing and attacking a paparazzo with an umbrella - riveted ENQUIRER readers this week in 2007. While the pop princess wanted to leave a rehab center, we reported that her manic antics prompted her family's decision to admit Britney to a psych ward.

Ashton's gay advice

AFTER smooching "Two and a Half Men" co-star Jon Cryer repeatedly in the final season, Ashton Kutcher said: "Here's the thing: if you want to know if you're not gay, kiss a dude. If you feel nothing, you know."

Bruce raids Khloé's closet!

BRUCE Jenner is getting a new wardrobe for his life as a woman – courtesy of stepdaughter Khloé Kardashian!

Khloé, 30, has gifted the 65-year-old Olympian “box loads of used designer clothes,” a family insider told The ENQUIRER.

At 5-foot-10, Khloé's castoffs from her heavier days at 170 pounds actually fit 6-foot-2 Bruce, who's lost a great deal of weight over the past year, added the pal.

“Now that she's leaner, Khloé has lots of gowns, bustiers, lingerie, leather pants, skirts and blouses that don't fit,” the pal said.

“She was going to dump it all at a charity, but then she realized her old stuff would probably fit Bruce – and look fabulous on him!”

A source claimed: “Khloé thought sharing her clothes with Bruce would be a nice ego boost. And she's warned him that once he's living as a woman, she doesn't want him wearing sweatpants and golf shirts!”

Stinky breath Depp

JOHNNY Depp's lovely new bride, Amber Heard, has slapped him with an ultimatum: Fix your funky breath!

The 51-year-old star stubbornly refuses to floss, despite grossing out those closest to him, pals said.

Now Amber, 28, has had enough.

“Amber has flat-out ordered Johnny to floss every day and brush his teeth more because his bad breath is becoming a serious turn-off,” an insider told The ENQUIRER.

“Johnny's had this issue for years, but he's never addressed the problem. He thinks the issue will go away by brushing his teeth a couple times a day and chewing gum. But it's worse than ever!”

While ex Vanessa Paradis was happy to let Johnny lead a hippie lifestyle and go days without showering, the pal said: “Amber's as health conscious as they come, and she's desperate for Johnny to fix his oral hygiene once and for all!”

YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. STUART FISCHER, GIA PORTFOLIO & LAURIE MILLER

WONDERS OF WINTER CITRUS

CELEBRITIES like Nicole Richie keep the citrus flowing from their year-round Hollywood gardens – but folks in frostier climes need healthy alternatives during these winter months. Winter citrus fruits don't get too much love, but they're both fresh and healthy. Look to pomelos for vitamin C from a source that's sweeter than a grapefruit. Blood oranges get their pigment from the healthy antioxidant anthocyanin, and the kumquat is loaded with essential oils. You can eat the peel, too!

KEEP YOUR NECK YOUTHFUL

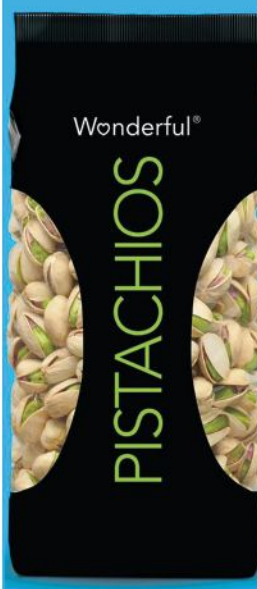

YOUR neck suffers the same aging as your face! Give it the same respect and prevent wrinkles with some key tips: "Address neck wrinkles from inside and out," recommended Dr. Stuart Fischer. "Creams are great, but also moisturize with diet! Use olive oil, hemp seed oil and avocado for maximum benefits. Collagen tablets and omega oils replace lost protein that leads to wrinkles."

SUNNY NEWS FOR EGG LOVERS!

THE United States Dietary Guidelines for 2015 have been announced – and, sadly, chocolate cake still isn't a health food. The good news is that you can safely use lots of eggs to make that cake, because the government has decided that cholesterol in egg yolks isn't much of a health concern. The old guidelines recommended no more than 300 milligrams of dietary cholesterol a day. That's about two large eggs. Now doctors have decided the cholesterol in your diet has very little to do with your blood cholesterol. Keep watching out for saturated fats and trans fats, though.

AND THE HEALTHY SNACK AWARDS GO TO!

IT'S awards show season! Time to plop on a couch, gaze at the stars and fill your face! But that doesn't mean you need to get fat doing it. Here are some top nominees from the Healthy Choice category: SunChips are tasty and provide 18 grams of whole grains, while packing in a mere 140 calories per 15 chips! Dips can be a diet derailer, but Oikos' tasty Cucumber Dill serves up only 25 calories and 1 gram of fat! Roasted and salted Wonderful Pistachios are all that, plus plenty more. They're packed full of flavor and important nutrients, with each 30-gram serving delivering 160 calories – and, naturally, there's zero trans fat! That's a winning formula!

DON'T DIG YOURSELF AN EARLY GRAVE

SHOVELING snow and ice sends thousands to the hospital every winter! Dr. Stuart Fischer recommends a few ways to minimize your risk: "Hold a snow shovel close to the blade at one end, and on the handle at the other. Make sure you pace yourself. Most snow-shoveling deaths come from heart attacks. Use a shovel that's the correct size for your height. Make sure your legs are the same distance apart as your shoulders, and that your knees are bent and your back is straight to avoid injury. And don't show off! Pace yourself – this isn't the time or place for strength training."

LOSE WEIGHT WITH HYDROXYCUT® DROPS

YOU can add weight loss power to your water with Hydroxycut's NEW Drops. Scientifically dosed with green coffee extract, they come with 14 total servings per bottle and a luscious fruit punch flavor! These effective, convenient and delicious Drops fit your schedule no matter where you find yourself, and provide a conveniently squeezable dietary supplement. Just squirt, sip and savor! Available for $6.98 at Walmart and other retailers!

CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

EIGHT-month-old Farley and Dilan Ivens are closer-than-this! The two share the same birthday, live in the same house, eat together and even bathe together.

But they're different species! Farley is a French bulldog and Dilan is the son of Chicago photographer Ivette Ivens - yet the two are inseparable snuggle buddies.

"I first recognized it the day we brought Farley home. He'd snuggle next to the sleeping baby," Ivette, 25, exclusively told The National ENQUIRER.

Both were born on May 26 and have been joined at the hip since the puppy became part of the Ivens clan.

"Farley follows Dilan around everywhere," said Ivette, who's been documenting their tender relationship on film.

"I'm sure Dilan thinks they're brothers since they move around at the same level and are going through the same stage of chewing on everything." As for Farley, he's taken on the role of big brother, and licks Dilan's face whenever he cries, turning the tyke's tears to laughter.

Ivette said: "For some reason, Farley really cracks him up! He's very gentle, and tries not to snore when they both take a nap."

She has even come to rely on Farley to give her a hand with the baby.

"Farley helps me a lot," she told The ENQUIRER. "He cleans up Dilan's mess after he eats!"

But that doesn't mean the non-identical twins don't get in their share of mischief.

"They are two FAST troublemakers," joked Ivette. "Dilan opens all the drawers and cabinets and takes things out, and Farley drags it all over the house!"

But she'd never separate this dynamic duo.

"I love seeing them together," she said. "It's honestly the most loving connection - pure, unconditional, irreplaceable and inseparable. They are the most adorable team."

And that's how babies Dilan and Farley crawled to the top of this week's Odd List!
